AFFAIRS IN BROOKLYN.

FOR AN ELECTRIC RAILWAY TO NEW-UTRECHT. The rapily growing suburbs of the city on the south-west, West Brooklyn, Blythebourne, Van Pelt Lanor, Bath Beach and Bensonhurst, afford a fine field for prospective profits from surface travel and a new company has just been formed to build an electric road, in addition to the extension of the lines of the Brooklyn City Fallward Commun. The tracion Brooklyn City Railroad Company into this region.
The new corporation is called the West Brooklyn Electric Railroad Company, and it lays out its route from Thirty-ninth-st. and second-ave., in Thirty-ninth-st., the Bath road and Eighteenth-ave., to Cropsey-ave., New-Utrecht. Only a small portion of the route is in the city, and that is already occupied by a railroad track in Thirty-ninth-st., from Second to Eleventh aves. The entire route is four miles and a half in

The directors of the company are Richard Hawley Charles Bellows, Jr., Allen N. Spence and John Kennedy, of West Evoldyn: Herbert N. Curtis and Henry G. Radford, of New-York; Thomas G. Spence, A. D. G. Radford, of New-York, Thomas G. Spence, A. D. Baird, Joseph P. Puete, William P. Rae, William Wish and John Morris, of Brooklyn. The company is capitalized at $50,000. It is said that the residents of Eighteenthave, which is the boulevard of New-Utrecht, will seriously object to an electric road in it. It is hoped to have the road in operation next spring.

TRYING TO PROVE A COLONIAL TITLE.

The case of Alfred Ros against Caroline A. Strong, on trial before Justice Bartlett, in the Supreme Court erday, involves the titles to valuable real estate on Long Island and Manhattan Island. The suit, which is an old one, was brought by Mrs. Elizabeth Floyd, to compel the defendants to remove a bridge across a piece of former meadow land, at Spring's Neck. The ase turns upon the title to the meadow and the Floyd homestead adjoining. On the second trial, in 1882, the plaintiff won, and the General Term affirmed the decision. The Court of Appeals ordered a new trial, however, on the ground that in 1666, after the English ecupation of New-York, all the lands in New-York and Long Island not already granted by the Province to individuals, were granted to the towns, and unless the plaintiff could show documentary title, or prove that her ancestors had the property before 1666, the title her ancestors had the property before 1666, the title must be held to be faulty. On a second appeal the Court of Appeals reversed its own decision, on the ground that it would overthrow the title to much of the lands which men occupied in Colonial times, as all records previous to 1860 were defective. Yesterday many interesting colonial records tending to prove the title to the property were read. Justice Bartlett reserved his decision.

BUSINESS TROUBLES DROVE HIM NO DEATH. Oscar Galinski, who committed suicide by shooting himself in Philadelphia on Thursday, lived at No. 388 Cumberland-st., Brooklyn. He was formerly the man-ager of C. W. H. Coster, the New-York varnish manufacturer, and in January went into partnership with John A. Muller and Henry Vogel under the firm name of Muller, Galinski & Vogel to manufacture printing and lithographic inks at No. 105 Beekman-st., New-He left his home on Tuesday morning in apparently good spirits. It is not known where he spent Tuesday night, but Wednesday he was in New-York and then went to Philadelphia. Business troubles undoubtedly caused him to kill himself. Mrs. Galinski says she is without money to go to Philadelphia. The dead man's business troubles were caused by a note for $500 which was sued for non-payment and which annoyed him greatly. There was also dissension among the members of his own firm. His lawyer yesterday received a check on the First National Bank of Brooklyn for $1,200 drawn by Mr. Gallaski before his suicide. It is not believed that he had that amount of money in any bank.

HE HAD CORK HEELS IN HIS STOCKINGS. Another attempt to defeat the provisions of the Civil Service regulations has just come to light. Although the officials tell of the incident they refuse to give the name of the man. He applied for ex-amination as a candidate for a place on the police force. When measured by Police Surgeon Ford he was found to be under the standard height of five feet seven inches. The next day his brother visited W. J. D. Campbell, secretary of the Civil Service Com-mission, whom he knew, and said that there was a mistake for several persons had measured his brother and he was over five feet seven inches. Mr. Campbell finally agreed to measure the candidate himself. hell finally agreed to measure the first seven and a quarter inches. He thought the man's heels were abnormal and asked him to remove his socks. Upon examination they were found to be padded half an inch with cork. The candidate and his brother tried to laugh the matter off as a joke.

MAKING A STREET RAILWAY SYNDICATE. The Brooklyn City Railroad Company yesterday filed certificates of transfer to it of the entire capital stock of the New-Williamsburg and Flatbush, the Grand Street and Newtown, the Brooklyn Crosstown, the Greenpoint and Lorimer Street, the Calvary Cemetery and the Greenpoint and Brooklyn railroad companies All these roads had been leased by the Brooklyn City Railroad Company, but by this change the Brooklyn City Company becomes the owner of all the roads. The company now holds 164 miles of track or eighty miles of railroad. It virtually owns the Second-ave line from the Thirty-ninth-st. ferry and is making an electric road of it now. The Flatbush-ave, line is to be extended to Flatbush, and if the Aldermen will conscut all the lines will soon be run by electricity.

SEVERAL EEQUESTS TO CHARITY. The will of Isaac H. Frothingham was offered for probate vesterday. GATHERED ABOUT THE TOWN. The verdict of the coroner's jury in the case of Alfred Olsen, the victim of the mysterious shooting in Sixtleth-st., near Fifth-ave., on October 12, is that be came to his death by a gunshot wound in the back, inflicted by some unknown person. All the investigations of the New-Utreent authorities, aided by the Eighteenth Precinct police, have failed to throw any

OPENING OF THE SERVIAN SKUPTCHINA. To-day the session of the Skuptchina, or National Assembly of Servia, is to be opened at Pelgrade. The election of its members took place in the latter part of September, and the Government has a great majority in the new Assembly. Its partisans, the Radicals carried 113 seats; the Liberals, 15, and the Progressists 2. The opposition in the late Assembly counted 15 votes. The parliamentary situation remains therefore in the same condition, and the political status of Servia has not changed much either, it has rather weakening the friendly relations which have always prevailed between Servia and Russia, the Belgrade Regency has succeeded in pacifying the anger recently Austro-Hungarian Government had finally decided to into Austria of Servian swine, under the pretext that they were diseased. The pork business is one of the principal branches of Servian commerce, and the three Regents who govern in the name of the young King Alexander managed so skilfully that the Vienna Cabinet has revoked its decree and permitted the importation of Servian swine into Austro-Hungary, though limiting to 3,500 a week the number of these imported animals. The relations of Servia with her neighbor numais. The relations of Servia with her neighbor bulgaria, which were somewhat strained, have been much improved of late. As to the questions of home politics, which turn mainly upon the attitude to be observed toward ex-King Milan, the Regeney and the Skuptchina will pull quietly together, inasmuch as they are of the same mind, namely, that Milan is nothing but a firebrand, who should be expelled for the sake of the country.
